

Neil Gandhi,

Principal Product Manager, Oracle Identity Analytics
Oracle Corporation

Neil Gandhi is a principal product manager with Oracle Identity Management group. Neil is responsible for driving product direction and business strategies for the Oracle Identity Analytics product and contributing to the overall strategy of the Oracle Identity Management suite. In his current role, he is also responsible for market assessment and outbound communication, including communication with customers, analysts and partners on product roadmap, product feedback, market analysis, and more. Prior to joining Oracle, Neil led product management for Sun's role management product.